

be passed. This wasn't even a part of what was brought. This will be passed and the Supreme Court will get indirectly what it can't get directly. And they are going to get it by telling you we are talking about child support. It is not primarily a child support bill. There are other factors at work here. This is just one of them and it is in the committee amendment. But I know the amendment will be adopted. The bill will move across, then if somebody writes an editorial and say, the Supreme Court snookered the Legislature, what was the Legislature doing when they are talking about child support requirements mandated by the federal government and they give the Supreme Court an automated system, then everybody is going to say, we didn't know that? I knew it and the record will show that I tried to bring it out, but it makes no difference. If the bill is so important, even if Section 76 is so important, they won't even have statutory authority to do that until September 1, 1986. But it is going to go, isn't it, because they are going to say people aren't paying their child support, so in the name of that do everything. I hope that you will review this amendment I am offering. The fact that the Supreme Court is not asking for the amendment to take effect this year, when the bill takes effect in the ordinary course of things,...

SPEAKER NICHOL: Now one minute.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: ...let them bring in a bill next year for this and seek an A bill and appropriation for it on its own.

SPEAKER NICHOL: Senator Higgins, please.

SENATOR HIGGINS: Thank you, Mr. President. This bill was not brought to us suddenly, if my bill book has been kept up-to-date, as I read it first reading was January 22. The committee hearing was February 19, and it was held in Judiciary Committee until May 17. Today is the first day that it has been heard. So it wasn't just brought to us. In other words, it was first read January 22. Senator Chambers, I heard you say many times you are not a gambler. I'm going to admit that I'm not all that sure of what everything is in LB 600 because I wasn't prepared for it to come out, and I usually don't look at bills until I know they are going to be heard. Everything that transpired today, I figured we would be on the appropriations. But this time you are gambling, gambling millions of dollars
